CHRISTIAN BOYS ARE IN MEXICO

OKLAHOMA'S NOTORIOUS OUTLAWS STILL AT LARGE—ENTRENCHED IN HILLS.

Interest has been revived in the whereabouts of the two Oklahoma outlaws who have resisted capture longer than any other outlaws in this county, Bill and Bob Christian who have been fugitives from justice for fourteen years, and although their capture has been reported many times, they are still at large. Word has been received in Oklahoma City that during a raid on a stronghold of revolutionists in the northwest part of Mexico the two desperadoes were seen.

The two Oklahoma men say they are the leaders of a band of Mexicans and their capture without the aid of a small army is next to impossible. They have entrenched themselves in the fastnesses of the hills of northwestern Mexico, where government is almost unheard of.

The jail delivery that the Christian brothers and Bill Casey effected from the county jail here, July 6, 1906, was daring, and the subsequent killing of Milton Jones, city marshal, one of the most atrocious and cold-blooded crimes in the history of the early days of Oklahoma. Bill Casey was killed in the fight between the citizens and police that followed. The Christian escaped and have successfully eluded all posses sent out for their capture. Bill Casey was killed, it is said, by Patrolman Jackson while in the buggy with Bob Christian that they had taken from G. White, now a resident of this city.

The jail delivery occurred Sunday afternoon, July 6, 1906, at 5 o'clock. M. L. Garber was jailer at the county jail, which occupied the site where the city jail now stands.

Jim and Bill Casey were held in the jail, charged with the murder of City Marshal Farris of Yukon, Okla. Bill and Bob Christian were held for the double charge of horse stealing and murder. The alleged theft of the horses occurred near Tecumseh, Okla. Deputy Sheriff Taylor, when the Christians sent word into Tecumseh that they would kill anyone sent after them, started out to arrest them. As he neared the place where the brothers were staying one of them appeared at the door of the house and shot Taylor with a Winchester. They were afterwards captured and brought here to prevent a lynching.

Jim Casey, arrested with his brother in the Chickasaw nation, charged with the murder of Marshal Farris of Yukon, Okla., died in the jail here with pneumonia.

M. L. Garber was jailer at the time of the escape of the Christians and the attempted escape of Casey. Revolvers had been smuggled to the men. Garber opened the cells to give the men their supper, when he was covered by their guns and forced to turn over the keys to the cells. Bill Casey, Bill Christian and Bob Christian ran from the jail and south in the alley to Grand avenue. Bob jumped upon the horse of Milton Jones and rode in Broadway to Reno, thence east to the river. Bill Christian and Bill Casey went to Broadway and ran into the street and jumped into the buggy driven by White. A woman was in the buggy with White. Both of them were knocked to the ground. Milton Jones, brother of Webb Jones, now on the local secret service force, seeing the fight in the buggy ran from in front of the Turf saloon, which occupied the building now occupied by the Postal Telegraph company.

Jones did not recognize the two jail breakers, and ordered them to throw up their hands. Bill Casey answered with a shot from his revolver, and Jones fell dead. Patrolman Jackson stationed in Broadway opened fire on the two men, and Casey was killed. A shot from the officer's gun hit him in the neck, which was broken. Bill Christian then drove south in Broadway after his brother and joined him near the Canadian river. Posses searched for the men for months but were unable to find any trace of them.

John W. Reeves, a prisoner in the jail at the time of the delivery that resulted in the killing of Milton Jones was convicted of conspiracy in the delivery. He was sentenced to the penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan., and was pardoned by Governor C. N. Haskell.

Birthday Dinner.
Mrs. W. I. Cruce gave a birthday dinner in honor of Miss Eliza Cruce and Dr. W. T. Bogie. The table was beautifully decorated with a small Christmas tree in the center, lighted with candles. At each guest's plate was a card upon which was to be written an original Christmas verse.

Following are a few of them:

By Governor-elect Cruce:
Christmas comes but once a year,
And that is music to my ear;
If it came but once in four,
It would please me so much more.

By Miss Ada Bennett:
Lazer would be a little girl much nicer

If she was not such a miser.

By Mrs. W. I. Cruce:
Do you know Miss Eliza?
You cannot surprise her;
Whenever you do,
She looks much wiser.

By Miss Virginia Bennett:
May Eliza's life be as full of good cheer
And as full of good friends as she has here;
May good Dame Fortune visit her every day,
But may misfortune stay away.

By Miss Mary Cruce:
Christmas time will soon be here,
The giving time of all the year;
Get your presents all on time,
And wrap them up in ribbons fine,
Put them carefully away until next year,
Then give them to your friends,
less dear.

By Miss Eliza Cruce:
Christmas comes but once a year,
And it should be heralded with good cheer,
But father thinks it quite a bore,
When he has to plunk out more and more.
When all he gets is a pair of socks,
Done up in a fancy Christmas box.

Miss Bennett Entertains.
Miss Ada Bennett entertained last night in honor of her sister, Miss Virginia Bennett of Kentucky. Thirty-two was the game. Those present: Misses Mary Cruce, Virginia Bennett, Eliza Cruce, Clara Wolverton, Clara Tate, Levina Woods; Messrs. Roy Johnson, Elwood Wolverton, Gene Cruce, Maje Cruce, Homer Adams and Mr. Bagley.

jail, was also convicted of negligence of duty and sentenced to a year in the penitentiary.

The crime that lodged the Caseys in the county jail here was committed in 1895 in Yukon, Okla. The brothers entered the town and in a fight with Farris, killed him. They were chased into the Chickasaw nation and were captured there. The chase from Yukon into the stronghold of the Caseys was a running fight all the way. Jim Casey was struck by a bullet which put him out of the fighting. Bill Casey allowed Jim to ride ahead, and he, single-handed, would engage the posse in battle until his brother had time to get a distance in the lead. He would then catch up with his brother and ride with him until the brother would begin to lag. Bill would then fall back and fire on the officers while his brother rode ahead.

The killing of Deputy Sheriff Taylor near Tecumseh by the Christians was also a cold-blooded murder. Taylor was approaching the house in which the brothers had taken shelter, when one of them shot him with a Winchester rifle without giving any warning.—Oklahoman.
